WE NOMINATE

One of the most distinguished husband-and-wife combinations in the history of American science—Ethel Browne Harvey and Edmund Newton Harvey—who this month are adding still more lustre to their remarkable 40-year partnership with the publication of a monumental volume by the former and the latter's retirement from the Princeton University faculty after 45 years as a member of the Department of Biology. Although they have reached the time of life (he is 68 and she 70) when even scientists customarily slow their paces, they have recently departed for Woods Hole, Mass., where they will devote the summer to purposeful work at the Marine Biological Laboratory, internationally known research center for the life sciences, which they both serve as Trustees.

Over the years, with Mrs. Harvey taking time out to raise two sons, the two have maintained adjacent laboratory-offices in Guyot Hall but have seldom worked together on research projects. Professor Harvey, Henry Fairfield Osborn Professor of Biology since 1933, has gained recognition as one of the world's leading authorities on bioluminescence and has succeeded in making the Princeton biology laboratory foremost in the country for the study of this extraordinarily useful research tool that has proved invaluable in a variety of research programs. Mrs. Harvey, in working with marine organisms, has been less in the spotlight than her husband but in 1947 was singled out by the eminent British scientist, J. B. S. Haldane, as the only American among the "seven women scientists who have made big scientific reputations."

Mrs. Harvey's forthcoming book, entitled "The American Arbacia and Other Sea Urchins," is a reference volume of inestimable value to workers on experimental embryology and cell physiology and in its field is comparable in significance to her husband's "The Nature of Animal Light," the first definitive work on the mysteries of "cold light," or bioluminescence. The Harveys have been responsible for the publication of nearly 350 scientific articles, with Professor Harvey demonstrating his range as a scientist by serving at one time or another as an editor of ten different publications and writing over 230 papers dealing with such subjects as cell surface, nerve impulse, brain potentials, mechanism of wounding, decompression sickness and, of course, luminescence.

It was in 1916, five years following his appointment to the Princeton Faculty and after Mrs. Harvey had taught on both the secondary school and college levels, that they were married in her native Baltimore. In the intervening decades Professor Harvey has moved from distinction to distinction, holding membership on key research committees and probing ever deeper into life's secrets. Among the honors he has won have been the Wetherill Medal of the Franklin Institute for perfecting the centrifuge microscope, the Rumford Medal of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences for advancing the knowledge of "chemical light" and the Certificate of Merit from the President of the United States for outstanding World War II service.

For their extensive, penetrating investigations of basic problems in the life sciences; for proving beyond doubt that matrimony and fundamental research are completely compatible; for meriting the awards that have been bestowed by admiring associates; the Doctors Harvey are Town Topics' nominees for

GROWING PAINS
Bridle Path Disharmony. Everyone hereabouts realizes that Princeton is growing about as fast as any town in America and perhaps is losing some of its rustic charm in the process, but only with developments of the past week came the realization that Princeton's "last frontier" may soon be eliminated. Along with other growing pains, Princeton faced the fact that rural joys must submit to the overwhelming pressures of expanding suburbia.

to creep in all directions this week, and as it moved out—particularly in the area north of Westcott Road between Bayard Lane and Elm Road—it created misunderstanding and the inevitable problems of growth. People inhabiting new homes in the area, or planning to occupy homes now under construction, felt it was high time to remove bridle paths running through their backyards.

Members of the Princeton Riding Club, on the other hand, felt it was their privilege to make use of paths that have been theirs to use for a good number of years.
Looking around their headquarters at the foot of Bayard, they came to the sudden conclusion that they must fight for their rights or be deprived of ample open space in which to work their steeds.

Fish Story?
Boasting a community-wide reputation for beautiful and well-kept grounds, the Institute for Advanced Study quite naturally is interested in maintaining the good looks of that portion of Stony Brook which cuts across its property. The Institute belongs to the Stony Brook Watershed Association, an organization dedicated to the preservation and improvement of Stony Brook.

In close connection with these ideals, the Institute owns a 12-foot aluminum rowboat that is used now and then by student employees for various projects such as repairing the property's two picturesque bridges and hauling logs away from the brook's banks. It is never used for any other purpose and is not a high-priced sports craft, so Institute officials are a little bit curious about its disappearance sometime after noon on Saturday.

For the record, the bass season in New Jersey started Saturday morning.

The situation got its ground roots way back, when owners of the sizeable property in question offered a right-of-way from Bayard to Elm to the old Johnson trolley line, linking Princeton with Trenton. The trolley company, in turn, granted the riders full use of a series of bridle paths around the now-extinct tracks. When the trolley made its final run about 1910, the property was conveyed to its previous owners, but horsemen continued to use the, well-worn trails and nobody seemed to care.

Now, however, suburbia has come of age in Princeton and happy youngsters romp in backyards that are also criss-crossed by romping horses. Little wonder, then, that new homeowners in the area tacked up "no trespassing" signs and erected barricades to stop the riders less than a month ago. Little wonder, then, that the riding group resented the action and vowed to preserve its "last frontier."

Through Mercer County Superior Court in Trenton, the horsemen obtained a temporary injunction, forcing the worried parents to remove their signs and barriers. On Friday, in Freehold, Judge J. Thomas Schettino will conduct a preliminary hearing on the injunction, at which time the homeowners must show cause why the injunction ought to be lifted and the riding group must set forth exactly where it claims to have trails.

One way or another, the rumble of the old trolley will be permanently replaced by the patter of little feet or the clop-clop of horses' hooves. In growing Princeton, however, there is no longer room for both in the same area.

SUMMER SIGNS

It's Official Now. Summer arrived in Princeton, as elsewhere, this week at 6:24 a.m. Thursday, but Princetonians paid little—if any—attention to the official debut because they were already sure it was here. Some of the many signs that helped convince them:

- The perennial heat wave that gripped Princeton last week end, just in time to invade McCarter Theatre on Friday evening and boil the jam-packed audience at Princeton High's 1956 graduation exercises. No one breathed a sigh of relief that night, but some breathed more easily this week upon learning that the school's new, 1500-seat gymnasium—with better cooling facilities—probably will be ready to handle the Class of 1957.

- The sight of 15 delighted boys using the railroad trestle over Lake Carnegie as a free diving board—a somewhat dangerous, though expectable, development that cooled off the carefree youngsters about as fast as it burned up the railroad men who were forced to halt the "dinky" on more than one occasion to let youth have its way.

- The warm-weather emergence of various members of the animal kingdom, pushed into the foreground by the sudden impact of summer. In addition to the usual number of lost cats and dogs, there was a baby raccoon missing from its too-warm Harrison Street home; there were 20 stray cows seeking shade in the backyard of G. L. Hannah's Province Line Road house; and there was a pony (with rider) enjoying a stroll on Nassau Street's north sidewalk from Bayard Lane to Palmer Square.

AROUND TOWN

Shot-in-the-Arm for Salk. Following the lead of the Mercer County Medical Society, which reversed its stand several weeks ago, Princeton's doctors suddenly endorsed the Salk vaccine injection program and came to the aid of Princeton Township's shot clinic. In three days' time, six volunteer physicians—of many who offered their services—helped complete the Township clinic by inoculating 400 school children, thus raising the project total to 1000.

William Kleinberg, the Township's acting health officer, said the county group's action left "nothing to deter local doctors from cooperating, and they did." Supplies of Salk vaccine are increasing, he noted, and private physicians can keep the program going by injecting on their own. The State Commissioner of Health has encouraged continuance of the program through the summer, despite conflicting reports, Mr. Kleinberg added.

While the Township got its house in order, Salk-wise, the Borough Board of Health—having held off any official project pending full medical endorsement—began contemplating what course to follow. Definite word on plans for an injection program, probably to commence when school opens in September, was expected after the group's next meeting.

Go North, Young Man. Not only did Princeton Township enjoy a healthy week in the health department, but it also took on a healthy glow in the matter of expansion. No less than three different outfits submitted plans and blueprints to the Planning Board for new subdivisions. If approved, they will represent 63 new homes in the northern part of the Township, from Route 206 to Province Line Road.

The largest of the three developments, a 35-lot project called Princeton Estates, asked the board for an okay to build homes off 206 along Arreton Road on property formerly owned by the Holder Corporation, south of the Rocky Hill-Mount Rose Road. The Berston Corporation will construct the new homes, once given the green light.

Also up for consideration at the Planning Board's July session will be a 19-lot subdivision on Albert Salzman's property, just east of Cherry Hill Road below the Berston tract, and a nine-lot Princeton University subdivision, planned for part of Dean Mathey's acreage, at Province Line Road between Stony Brook and Pretty Brook Road. The latter will call for lots of approximately two acres each for purchase by members of the University faculty.

"Historical Reluctance." Down in the heart of town, Councilman Tristram Johnson, handed a hot off-street parking potato that he put in the oven a year and a half ago, reported "definite enthusiasm" on the part of an overwhelming majority of businessmen connected with the proposed lot between Vandeventer Avenue and Moore Street. He said a personal survey of opinion in the last two weeks convinced him that the project is feasible and imminent.

"Those who still oppose the plan," he commented, "oppose it as a matter of historical reluctance. I'm sure they'll come along, however, as soon as they see that a majority definitely is in favor of it and that it will benefit everybody in the area."

In line with Mr. Johnson's "come-along" hopes, one of the business directly involved—the Princeton Water Company—will hold a meeting of its minds this Thursday to consider the Borough's latest terms regarding the lot and its operation. Presumably, the water company will start the ball rolling, with the Methodist Church following suit by calling a special session in the next month or so.

Many Wrinkles! In a signed statement issued this week, the six members of the Borough Housing Authority, all of whom are unmarried and two of whom have served for some 17 years, strongly urged the community not to jeopardize "the proposed urban redevelopment project which is still under study with many wrinkles to be ironed out before we ourselves can be satisfied."

Understandably perturbed "about the apparent misunderstanding in some quarters concerning our motives and intentions" in regard to the Federally-financed studies of the John Witherspoon Area, the Housing Authority pointed out: "Eventually we hope to have a plan with which we are thoroughly familiar, whose implications we have carefully examined and which we can enthusiastically recommend."

Ideally the proposed program, the Authority said, would "provide better homes for those who need them and more individually-owned homes than is now the case. In meeting the unusually rigorous requirements, our consulting firm has overcome certain difficulties and has made several excellent suggestions, but we would be remiss, and justifiably criticized, if we were to make such a plan public without thorough consideration and consultation, especially in a matter which affects the homes of some of our fellow citizens."

The Housing Authority, of which Bruce H. French is Executive Director, emphasized that some of the decisions in the area "are not ours to make, such as the realignment of streets, the playground needs of the school, a possible relocation of the post-office, the acceptability of indicated zoning changes and the desires of churches in respect to rectories and parking."

By discussing the above-listed "decisions" and working out mutually acceptable solutions with the Planning Board and Borough Council, the Board of Education, the Federal Postoffice authorities, the Zoning Board and the most demanding role, that of Jean of Arc in the University Players' opening production of the summer. (see page 5).

Chester A. Steen, Cranbury-Plainsboro Road, whose patience, understanding and prowess with a group of learning youngsters went a long way toward earning the Midget League World Series title for the Pirates—in two straight triumphs over the defending champion Yankees (story and picture, page 13).

Michael G. Lial, 293 Witherspoon Street, who this week accepted a post on the Township police force effective July 1, thereby raising the department total to 31 men. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lial, 140 Jefferson Road, and brother of another Sam, a Township patrolman, the new recruit is a Princeton high graduate ('50), a veteran of almost 10 years with the National Guard and the father of two children.

ROUND UP

Trinity Episcopal Church informed elated parishioners this week that the gift of a 76-acre parcel in Princeton Township will permit vital expansion. "The property won't go off the Township tax rolls until it's actually in use for church purposes—probably in two to three years (for details, turn to page 23).

Governor Meyner is still hopeful of lighting his Christmas tree in Morven and thinks it can be done if his advisors manage to select furniture for the Princeton mansion soon. "That big puzzle for the great minds at the Institute for Advanced Study—how to erect a new building atop a trunk sewer line—may be solved by week's end. . . . The Institute very likely will be obliged to foot the bill for relocation of the underground system, and will gladly do so rather than see building plans altered."

Reporting their "busiest year," slap-happy Mercer County Mosquito Extermination Commissioners noted that "the worst area is around Princeton," as a result of its many bodies of water, and that it is their "pet," requiring men to work all over the district. . . . Princeton's disappointing crew, concentrating on four-man combos instead of eight for next week's Olympic trials, came up with a quartet and cox this week that churned 2,000 meters in 6:47.0, compared to the Olympic record of 6:47.8, and thus erased some of last week's blues.

No feudin' or fightin' between Jesse L. Terry and Princeton newcomer Bortram F. Bonner, putting up a large home next door to Mr. Terry on land purchased from architect Alexander Morgan at Rosedale and Elm Roads. . . . Attorneys for the neighbors have met and agreed on a plan to maintain an attractive amount of space between their two mansions.

All members of the Borough police force will participate in a comprehensive, two-hour session on traffic problems, to be conducted by experts from the Motor Vehicle Division. . . . It's supposed to be a cracker jack course, so motorists best mind their manners—except during the two-hour period when all the police are off the streets.

Joseph Hastoglis, who not long ago sold the Princeton "Goody Shop" after 30-plus years in the delicatessen biz, this week sought to sandwich his Nassau Street home between the shop and a proposed store for the other side of his house. . . . Planning Board members probably will oppose three churches in the area, the Housing Authority hopes "to make rapid and orderly progress towards the preparation of a plan acceptable and advantageous to the residents of the affected area in particular and to the Princeton community as a whole."

Recalling how the existing 50-unit Hageman Homes were brought into being, the members of the Housing Authority said: "We are recommending that the Mayor and Council approve a resolution authorizing us to apply for Federal assistance toward the construction of 50 additional units to be located near or adjacent to the Hageman Homes. We applied originally for these units in 1951 but our application was not granted. We would like to try again in order to accommodate some of the 53 families now on the waiting-list for vacancies in the Hageman project."

The members of the Housing Authority: Edmund S. DeLong, Dr. Harry W. Hazard, David S. Lloyd (Chairman), Wesley J. Marshall, Joseph J. Redding and Carl C. Schafer.

"Going Back" for "Jack." Putting the usual confusion of reunion week end to good use, though apparently not in need of the assist, an unknown swindler slipped into Princeton and, with calm professionalism, cashed of at least four worthless checks at different downtown stores. Borough investigators, given a near-complete description of the "40-year-old" man by his unsuspecting victims, pressed their search for him this week.

Using the name of "Harvey F. Bennett" and a phony Trenton address, the clever visitor cashed "payroll" checks, each in the amount of $47.04 and each printed realistically on check forms of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company that haven't been in circulation for more than two years. Each check, numbered the same as its illegal forerunner, indicated it was made out as part of the Tower Construction Co.'s payroll and was signed by a non-existent "treasurer" of the firm. "Mr. Bennett," an affable customer who purchased approximately $9 worth of merchandise at each shop and averaged take-home change of $38, made his rounds on June 8 and 9. So good was his criminal work, right down to the payroll-style perforated numerals on the checks, that only one proprietor indicated a desire to see identification. Then, of course, the polished performer volunteered his driver's license, a realistic but worthless card belonging to "Harvey F. Bennett."

Firemen March Friday. Participating in a traditional event which happily has never been occasioned by a fire call, Princeton's volunteer firemen will hold their annual parade and inspection this Friday evening. The line of march will begin at the intersection of Nassau and Chambers Streets at 7 p.m., with the inspection scheduled to take place on Olden Avenue after the procession moves there from its starting point.

All members of the town's three companies, spruced up in their Sunday-best (not freight-liner) uniforms, will march in the parade, accompanied by all pieces of mobile equipment operated by each unit. Also, there will be a pair of bands to liven up the proceedings—the brassy Hamilton Square outfit from Trenton and popular string band from Philadelphia.

Fire Chief George Cahill's department, composed of Princeton Engine Company No. 1, Mercer Engine Company No. 3 and Hook & Ladder Engine Company No. 1, will be inspected on Olden by Mayor Sturges and several Borough Councilmen.

Two Day Car and Fashion Show. A Sports Car, Automobile and Sports Fashion Show will be held at the Mall of the Princeton Shopping Center from 2 to 5 P.m. and 9.30 to 5.30 on Saturday. There will be a large display of foreign and American sporting cars as well as 60 models of automobiles from Princeton dealers. At 3 p.m. on Saturday, 30 models will display sporting fashions for men, women and children.

TO BE SEEN IN MURRAY THEATRE: Georgine Hall as Saint Joan and Paul Schirm as Dunois have major roles in the forthcoming University Players' production of Shaw's "St. Joan." The drama is the first of eight planned by the summer troupe and will run for a week beginning Saturday.

News of the Theatres

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

A number of highly-talented and professional performers will be seen in "Saint Joan," the University Players' opening production which will be on view at Murray Theatre Saturday night and will continue for a week.

Charles Schultz, now active with television in "Studio One," will return for a week in the role of the Dauphin. Mr. Schultz, a graduate of Princeton and Triangle and Theatre Intime performances, was responsible for much of the Players' marked success during the summers of '53 and '54.

Richard Nichols, a Princeton resident, will play the archbishop in the Shaw classic. Mr. Nichols played the same role in "The Lark," a Lillian Hellman adaptation of Jean Anouilh's play about the Maid of Orleans, in its recent Broadway run.

Munroe Wade, a Princeton resident who recently was in the cast of the New York performance of "Age and Grace," will play Cauchon. Mario Siletti, a familiar performer to University Players' patrons after his work during the 1954 season, will join the cast fresh from his work at New York's Phoenix Theatre in "Queen After Death."

Georgine Hall, a veteran of Community Players and Intime performances, will take the role of Joan of Arc. Her most recent success came in the Intime presentation of Clifford Odets' "Clash by Night." Paul Schirm, an actor and director with the Theatre Intime, will take the role of Dunois.

Directing the serio-comic presentation is Mike Kesdekian, who has staged more than 75 productions in this country and abroad. Morton Goode, one of the organizers of the troupe for this season, will produce this show and the Players' seven other productions.

The Players, who first organized in 1928 and were revived two decades later, will be putting on one of their most ambitious schedules this season, with plays running from one-act portrayals by Thornton Wilder, William Saroyan and Tennessee Williams to

Strindberg's biting work, "The Father." Other performances include "Charlie's Aunt," "Blood Wedding," "The Grass Harp" and "As You Like It."

Tickets for all productions, as well as weekday season subscriptions, are currently on sale at the theatre and at Bamberger's Department Store. For ticket prices and full schedule, see the advertisement on this page. The box office telephone is 1-3539.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

This week the Playhouse is offering a little-known work, "The Lesser Comores," written by Albert Husser, the author of the popular "My Three Angels." The work will run through Saturday.

Howard da Silva and Jerome Cowan have starring roles in the comedy, which is directed by Herbert Bergof, stager of "Waiting for Godot." The plot establishes a triangle composed of a dedicated scientist, his attractive wife and his charming but ne'er-do-well brother, who, however, does well with the scientist's wife.

The following week, Mr. Cowan and Mr. da Silva will recreate their roles in "The World of Sholom Aleichem," which played 43 weeks on Broadway. The play is a "monument" to the memory of the great Jewish humorist who asked in his will that no other memorials than collections of his humor be created in his honor.

The play is an adaptation by Arnold Perl, and also honors another great humorist, Isaac Loeb Peretz. It was originally presented at the Barbizon Plaza Theatre and was played on a tour throughout the East.

Mr. da Silva, who will direct as well as co-star in the piece, which will have a one-week run, has been a member of practically every permanent New York theater group, including Group Theatre and the Theatre Guild. Mr. Cowan is a veteran of variety performances and has been seen in more than 125 motion pictures.

MUSIC CIRCUS

Alfred Cibelli and Irene Manning continue to hold the stage with the St. John Terrell production of "The King and I" at the Music Circus. The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical is playing its third week under the tent and will start its fourth next week.

Two of the dance numbers in the show have been extremely popular in their presentation on the round stage. These are the "March of the Siamese Children" and "The Small House of Uncle Thomas," the latter a Siamese interpretation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

THE PLAYHOUSE

D-Day the 6th of June (June 21-23) has a misleading title in that it is by no means primarily an epic drama of the Allies' Normandy invasion but a love story which has its climax on that famous day. Robert Taylor, Richard Todd and Diana Wynter, a British actress, head the cast.

The story traces the romance of an English girl whose sweetheart is fighting in Africa and an American officer stationed in London, far away from his wife. Their loneliness brings them together, with D-Day writing their future. A tendency toward repetition, plus a number of drawn out scenes detract from the overall effectiveness of the picture.

Gaby (June 24-26) is the story of the "girl (Leslie Caron) who got left behind" when the soldier (John Kerr) went off to war. Since she had refused his love, her conscience at his death causes her to seek consolation with other men, posing an interesting problem when he returns, after all, and she finds she loves him. Often title, the picture nevertheless has some good music and excellent dancing (although in small portions) by Miss Caron. It is not recommended for children.

The Harder They Fall (June 27-30) is the movie adoption of a Budd Schulberg novel on the horrors of professional boxing, and while it has power as a dramatic presentation, even the author has admitted that the message is a little harsh. Featured in the film, which tells the story of a Primo Carnera-esque character, are Humphrey Bogart, as his press agent, and Rod Steiger, as the manager of the syndicate which owns the fighter, and they are both excellent. A pair of former champions, Max Baer and Jersey Joe Walcott, also take a hand in the proceedings.

THE GARDEN

The Birds and the Bees (June 21-23) stars the television comic George Gobel and it's enough of a one-man picture so that those who do not number themselves among his fans may not find it particularly uproarious. Gobel followers, however, (and there are many) will enjoy his motion picture debut in this piece about a big-game hunter (Mr. Gobel) who is marked aboard an ocean liner as the intended victim of cardsharp David Niven and daughter Miltzi Gaynor. The latter provides further light entertainment through song and dance.

The Trouble With Harry (June 25-27) is an Alfred Hitchcock technicolor production which employs suspense but makes it take a back seat to extremely tickling and enjoyable whimsy. The pie-

Summer Serenade, Latest gimmick at the Princeton Music Center on Palmer Square is a Dynakit amplifier that you — or the nearest male relative with manual dexterity — put together. The amplifier has a pre-assembled printed circuit board so that the wiring left for the buyer to do is simple and minimal.

It's a 50-watt amplifier with a frequency range up to 20,000 cycles. A comparable amplifier that came assembled would be around $100 and this Dynakit is $69.95.

RCA has a new little portable record player for sale on vacation along with your collection of 45 rpm records. It's a tidy baquette case only 12 by 14 by 4 inches, with floppy coral-colored tone arm and control knobs. Sells for $59.95.

The Music Center goes on the theory that there is no such thing as "summer music". If it's good music and you like it, they say, what difference does June make? This sweeping statement takes in all of the Center's varied record collection, from "My Fair Lady" on up and down.

New Jewel, Same Setting

Our family jewels having become dusty, we stopped in at LaVake's the other day to buy some new ones and to examine the jewelry shop now that it has a new owner.

Besides a tidy collection of diamonds — set, unset and arranged in earrings, bracelets, and so on — we found an expanded stock of silver flatware and some decorative Royal Dulton china.

Diamond earrings begin at $39.75, in case you're in the market, and go up until you say "when". (Moderately priced Trifari and Monet costume pieces are available, if the occasion isn't diamond-bright.)

Sterling flatware includes, besides the Gorham that LaVake has always carried, Lunt, Steiff, International and Reed & Barton. Mug collectors will reach for a Royal Dulton cavalier mug, and women who like to see figurines on a shelf have several to choose from.

Longines and Omega watches mark time in this shop. For any watch or piece of jewelry, LaVake's new repair department will do fast and accurate work.

week at Landau's in its usual brevity and accompanied by its customary pair of bloomers. Missing are the ruffles.

This set, in cotton plisse, has a low-cut scoop neck trimmed with plain binding, and cap sleeves finished in the same manner. Comes in pink, blue, maize and aqua for $1.98.

The store at 25 Witherspoon also has a dress-length gown with Empire bodice, scoop neck and a fabric of white plisse printed with rosebuds. A blue ribbon accents the design. A shorty gown at $1.98 buttons down the front.

For $2.98 you may have the same gown with more sleeve and a ribbon or two more. This one comes in violet as well as the usual pinks, and all the gowns we have described are available in sizes 32 to 38.

For sizes up to 52, Landau's has a long plisse gown, short sleeved with a V-neck banded in a narrow nylon ruffle. A traditional summer gown styled with the Puerto Rican hand-work that has been used for so many years, has a cool V-neck, no sleeves, and a trimming of embroidered scallops. A grandmother would appreciate a long-sleeved muslin gown, done with a yoke of pin tucks and a ruffled V-neck.

Rayon tricot is used in gowns by Lussie Kayser. These are long, sleeveless, or cap sleeved and styled with a deep V at the throat. Seamprius has nylon gowns in every length.

Hook and Lantern. Saw the most ridiculous lantern at Tiger Auto the other day. It looks exactly like a real, old-fashioned lantern, and it is precisely six inches high including the hook at the top to hang it up by.

Made of chrome—or something like chrome—it has a battery and two flash-light bulbs to keep it going. One bulb is a red and one white. Costs $98 and gives plenty of light to guide a camper to his tent.

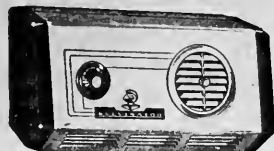

An exhaust fan—the poor man's air-conditioner—appears at 26 Witherspoon with a new device: a thermostat that turns it on and off by air temperature. General Electric makes it in a 20-inch size to fit wide or narrow windows. Set for "exhaust", it blows the hot air out of your house so that cool evening air can stream in by another open window.

Set to blow "IN", it can cool one room quickly. (G.E. recommends intake for apartments where "exhaust" might pull in the warm air from the west of the building.) The fan costs $69.95.

Another G.E. fan, the baby of the family, sells for $9.95, reputedly the cheapest price G.E. has ever thought up for a fan. It's a little thing that stands on floor or table, designed with its blades hidden in three concentric circles.

To keep cool outside, Tiger suggests pools of canvas or plastic. A formidable six-footer—square, not deep—is banded with a wide metal frame around its canvas walls and floor (dolphins sport around on the yellow canvas). Costs $22.50. Smallest pool in the store is one about two and a half feet in diameter, plastic, $2.98, just big enough for baby. —Continued on Page 8

P.H.S. Holds Graduation. Princeton High School graduated 235 seniors in a ceremony held Friday in the McCarter Theatre. The theme of the graduation, as presented by the students, was "The Way We Face the World."

The Reverend Richard H. Luicke, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, delivered the invocation and benediction. Thomas C. Shope, president of the class, gave an address of welcome to the parents and friends of the graduating class.

Scholarships were presented to the graduates by Irving W. Wicks, secretary of the Board of Education, Mrs. Thelma C. Young, president of the Board of Education, awarded the diplomas. Leading speakers in "The Way We Face the World" were Barbara Dilley, Steven Young and Jean Stratton. The speaking chorus, led by Morgan Holman, included Arnold Alden, John Harbison, Patrick Hutton, Joyce Johnson, Jewell Kennedy, Nancy Lu-

and the pup. A jungle gym in this huckeyard collection has an array of swings, bars, rings, and a glider all for $14.95. Inflatable rings are canvas or plastic, from $3.50 to $7.95, and there is a series of shelves with snorkel swim masks, standard masks, fins, goggles, inflatable rings, ear plugs, nose clips—enough to scare any fish out of his fins.

Travel Light. Solite bags are made with fast, light travel in mind, and Luttman's suggests them if you are going anywhere at all. They are canvas, stretched tent over an aluminum frame. Colors are navy with oxblood trim or brown with tan.

There is a double zipper around three sides of the bag, and the inside is stripped clean of gadgets—only a gathered pocket around the sides. You must have it from the store at 132 Nassau in sizes from 18 to 29 inches in length, priced from $24.50, plus tax.

The Car-Sac is a semi-suitcase that folds and stands up, all at the same time. Hang your clothes, not on a hickory limb, but on the tubular frame of the bag. Then fold it up and stand it upright in your car on the same frame. Coverings are plain or plaid—a quiet Black Watch or a bright red—and one is oyster. Car-Sacs are designed for men or women, priced from $18 plus tax.

Grasshopper suitcases—for long or short hops, presumably—are light-weight nylon over plywood. We saw them at Luttman's in sizes from 21 to 29 inches, priced from $11.

Support for Adlai. Princeton's Stevenson-for-President Committee, headed by John P. Poe, president of the First National Bank, and Mrs. Marver H. Bernstein, came forward this week with a unique appeal to all thoughtful voters—whether Republicans, Democrats or Independents—to lend a hand in advancing the candidacy of Adlai E. Stevenson for the position of head of the Democratic ticket in November.

In a statement that in Mr. Poe's words "transcended party-lines," the local Stevenson Committee said that "at this time it has its sights set on the nomination of Mr. Stevenson as its primary objective. After the convention, when the regular Democratic organization can take action, we shall then reappraise our position and can work for other goals."

It is the committee's conviction that "even Republicans, who would not intend to vote for him in the final election, should take a strong interest in Mr. Stevenson's candidacy, not only to insure that the final campaign will be conducted on the highest level, but, in view of the uncertainties to which all events are subject, to make certain that a Democratic victory in November will put into the White House the highest type of man as representative of us all, Democrats and Republicans alike."

Describing Mr. Stevenson as the "one Democratic candidate with the training and breadth of understanding necessary to handle the major problems of our time, both foreign and domestic," the Princeton Committee proposes in this "televistic age" to assist Mr. Stevenson to obtain the widest possible hearing between now and the August convention by raising funds to enable him to buy television time.

The community-wide fund solicitation contemplated by the local supporters of the Princeton SIGHTS SET: John P. Poe this week told why "all thoughtful voters" should back Stevenson.

Class of 1922's standard-bearer will be directed at the "man in the street." They will seek small contributions ($1 and $5) to the "Let's Talk Sense Fund" sponsored by the National Stevenson for President Committee.

Officers of the Princeton Committee, in addition to Mr. Poe and Mrs. Bernstein, are: Mrs. George W. Loos, membership; Kermit Rolland, treasurer; Miss Esther C. Dilworth and Mrs. Edward M. Earle, co-chairmen, finance committee; Mrs. Robert Hartle, secretary; and H. Philip Minis, public relations.

Smoother Ride. Princetonians last week got a view of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "train of the future" which will make commuting to New York and Philadelphia a much more comfortable operation sometime in the future.

The "tubular train," as it is called, was press-previewed in the Princeton yards and will be put into operation on Sunday between New York and Washington. Built by the Budd Company, it embodies several structural innovations which will make for a faster, smoother ride while cutting down on the time and expense of train operation.

The train has seven coaches, seating 574 passengers, while a separate car will generate electricity for the whole train. Included in the generator car is a kitchen for preparing hot meals for passengers.

Other passenger conveniences include large mural windows with light controlling shades, electric water coolers, luggage compartments and overhead baggage racks. The interior design is carried out in plastic and rubber tile, with photomurals of cities serviced by the Pennsylvania Railroad for decoration.

Each of the coaches is divided into three sections, which are at different levels. The middle section of the car holds seats with ample spacing and individual leg rests for 56 passengers, while 12 more are provided at one end. The other end of the car is a smoking compartment for 14 passengers.

The train, which is 40% lighter than those presently in use, rides only 24 inches above the rails on specially-constructed, roller bearing trucks. Cars have been kept at the standard length, but are nearly two feet lower than the conventional coach.

Mercer St. Speeders Fined. It was Visiting Firemen's Day in borough court Tuesday, as Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro completed traffic cases against 16 offenders of whom 11 were from out of town. A majority of the offenders were fined for speeding on Mercer Street.

Peter B. Cook, 19, of Heathcote Farm, Kingston, paid $25 for a 53-mile an hour trip through the 25-mile zone. Herbert S. Bailey, Jr., 35, of 2 College Road was fined $15 for violating the Borough traffic ordinance. Passing red traffic signals cost Mrs. Mary S. Crouse, 61, of Carter Road and L. A. Dansberry, 64, 15 Princeton Avenue, Hopewell, $10 each. The addresses of other defendants ranged from Rockville Center, N. Y., to Fuquay Springs, N. C.

Two Princeton residents have had their licenses revoked by the State Department of Law and Public Safety for repeated violations. Leroy Smith, 33, 43 Witherspoon Street, lost his driving privileges for 30 days following three speeding convictions. Hamilton S. Gregg, 2nd, 32, Mercer Road, has lost his license for four months in view of successive charges for passing a red traffic light, improper passing and two for speeding.

Home Sales Booming. A complete, self-sufficient community engineered by a Princeton resident has reported booming business, with 132 homes sold, 87 of them in the last four weeks.

The community is Kendall Park, situated on Route 27 between Princeton and New Brunswick. A development engineered by Herbert Kendall of Elm Road, it offers models of homes in two price brackets as well as its own school, built by the developer.

Homes are priced at $14,200 for a seven-room unit and $12,900 for a six-room smaller version. Both models contain three bedrooms. Mr. Kendall said that there are 500 new units under construction which will be ready in the fall.

Both models are available in a wide choice of exterior designs, according to the builder. Illustrated details about the ranch homes, including terms, are published on page 27 of this issue. Kendall Park's only advertising medium in Princeton is Town Topics.

Shift to Center. The Claridge Wine & Liqueur Co., after a long, hard and finally successful fight to win approval of its transfer to the Princeton Shopping Center, will open officially for business at the new site next Monday morning. After almost 18 years at 40 Leigh Avenue, the store's shift to the center will be effected this week end.

Claridge, the only package liquor store in Princeton Township, will be located between the Acme and A&P markets, facing the center's south parking lots near the A&P pick-up station. Being the only such licensed store in the municipality, it will be the first liquor outlet at the center. As they have throughout Claridge's operation since the late 1930s, Mrs. Claire Levine will continue to serve as president of the firm and her husband, Ben, will retain the title of manager.

Witherspoon School Graduates. Ninety-three eighth graders from the Witherspoon School have received certificates of graduation from Chester R. Stroup, assistant superintendent of Princeton Borough Schools.

Sandra Sidoroff received a medal for achievement in American history, while special American Legion and Legion Auxiliary awards were presented to Georgiana Coyle, Lenne Leech, Ralph Harbison and Theodore Merritt. Student Council awards were presented to Miss Coyle, Mr. Harbison, Mavis Cantril, Susan Minia, Susan Miller and David Rhodes.

attend the Junior Red Cross Leadership Training Center at Stokes State Forest, Branchville, N.J., from Sunday through Friday.
The session is planned to give members of the Junior Red Cross training for programs in schools throughout New Jersey. Among the discussion groups will be those on safety, the Bloodmobile and Civil Defense and Red Cross Disaster Service.
Princeton residents who will serve on the faculty are Mrs. T. Morton Harris of the Witherspoon School; Mrs. Mary Sage, executive secretary of the Princeton Chapter; and John Adams, water safety instructor of the chapter. Dr. Peter Orlovski, former director of the Junior Red Cross in Bulgaria, will be director of the center.

Tour of Watershed Planned.
The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association has planned a series of three tours of the watershed area for the coming months. The tours, which will be identical in itinerary, will be held at 9 a. m. on June 30, July 15 and August 24. On the tours, officers of the watershed association will point out examples of erosion, irrigation that cost farmers money each year. They will also demonstrate terracing, contour strip cropping, farm ponds and other methods adopted both for conservation and to assure best use of the land.
The tours will be taken in buses, and parties of any number are invited. The public may make reservations for the tour by writing the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, Pennington, N.J.

William Flemer 3rd of Princeton has been elected to the Board of Trustees of the association, filling the position vacated by Bernard Peyton, it was announced. Mr. Flemer, a nurseryman and plant specialist, has been associated with his father at the Princeton Nurseries.
New members of the association from the Princeton area are William H. Murphy, Mrs. Harold Cherniss, Oliver Perry, Mrs. George R. Clay, Russell Prickett, William Short Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Duryee 3rd.
The group also announced that the Regional Planning study is preparing land use inventories in the project area. The work is being directed by Dr. Edward Wilkins, professor of Planning at Rutgers University, with the assistance of Austin Palmer.

Scientist to India. Dr. Hodmut Wakeham, director of research at the Textile Research Institute, has been granted a two-year leave of absence from the organization to act as director of the Ahmedabad, India, Textile Research Association.
The Ahmedabad plant is staffed by more than 200 scientists, technicians and service personnel, and is sponsored by Indian industry and the Indian government. Dr. Wakeham will be in charge of coordinating and directing the plant's program and training a permanent director for the institute.

Ritchie to Join Staff. Ralph K. Ritchie, a member of the faculty at Kent School, Kent, Conn., will join the Princeton University administrative staff, effective July 1. He will work on the implementation of the newly-announced development policy.
Mr. Ritchie, graduate secretary of the Princeton Class of 1934 and a former member of the Graduate Council, has taught at Kent and St. Johnsbury Academy. After his graduation from Princeton he was a member of the advertising, promotion department of "Time" magazine.

During World War II. Mr. Ritchie entered with the rank of private and was discharged five years later as a captain. He received a Purple Heart with two clusters and a Silver Star for his gallantry while wounded in action. The program with which he will work calls for the erection of a five-unit Engineering School quadrangle. It also plots the expansion of existing facilities, including the Department of Art and Archaeology and the School of Architecture.

Question of the Week

Question: What are you going to do with yourself this summer?

Location: Around town.

Alfred Mason, 327 Nassau Street, fourth grader: I'm planning to play plenty of baseball at the Harrison Street playground and I'll be watching the Dodgers play baseball on TV—every game. They're my team, but I don't know if they'll win the pennant because the Pirates look tough. I'm not going to do anything else.

Susan Eichorn, 40 Morgan Place, seventh grader: We're moving to Pennsylvania in the middle of July—outside Yardley—and I'm looking forward to the move because there's a 12-year-old boy there who will be our neighbor. Oh yes, I'm going to have a baby sister in the late summer or early fall. We hope she's a sister because my brother's so horrible. Otherwise, I'm just planning to do a lot of swimming everywhere. I guess I'm not very interesting.

Charlie Johnston, 355 Nassau Street, ninth grader: I'm heading for the shore for three weeks—to swim, of course. Before the shore, I'm going to join the Princeton Swim Club. Swimming is by far my favorite sport—I'm just trying tennis today for laughs.

Carol Onclur, 660 Ewing Street, seventh grader: I'm going to take some advanced courses in swimming and life-saving. I suppose I'm also going to have to continue taking lessons in some musical instruments. I can play many of them, but mainly piano and viola. I'll do a lot of reading, too. I always read.

Bill Hammer, 270 Hamilton Avenue, fifth grader: Well, I'm going away to camp, but I'll also be doing a lot of fishing with my dad and other friends. I'll be playing baseball and stuff like that. Tennis is a lot of fun, but I guess I enjoy fishing about the best.

Robert James, 2 Evelyn Place, seventh grader: I'll tell you one thing for sure—I'm not going to do much thinking about school. I'll be away at camp for a month and will get a chance to play tennis and even lacrosse. In August, Tennis, Everyone?

What's with the new generation of girls?

Instead of cutting out paper dolls and playing house and doing other girlish things, they seem to be more interested nowadays in athletic endeavors and other activities usually associated with the male of the species.

Town Topics' inquiring reporter, in gleaning information for Question of the Week (on this page), found that "boys will be boys" still applies, but it's a different story with the girls. They've developed real enthusiasm for male pursuits.

Perhaps the Princeton trend, if it's a trend, has something to do with their real enthusiasm for men, regardless of the pursuits.

I'll be at the shore. I can hardly wait!

Rhoda Wallace, Herrontown Road, seventh grader: We'll probably go to Rhode Island for a couple of months—at my grandmother's cottage on the beach. My cousin will be there to visit me from Connecticut. We're leaving for California later on—we think to stay for good—and, though I'll miss my friends here, I know I'm going to like California.

Robert Anderson, 11 Fisher Avenue, fourth grader: Swimming in my own 27-in. swimming pool is what I'll be doing most of the summer. When not there, maybe I'll work in some fishing. Baseball is my favorite sport and we'll be playing a lot of it. A friend of mine has a big backyard, with no windows near enough to break.

Area Residents Graduate. Several of the Princeton area residents (in addition to those already announced) received degrees at commencement exercises of various schools and colleges this month.

Highlighting the list is Dr. Ethel B. Harvey, independent researcher in Princeton University's department of biology, who received an honorary degree of doctor of science at Goucher College. Dr. Harvey was cited for having won "international reputation as one of America's outstanding scientists." She has been engaged in work on animal grafting in hydra and cell physiology.

Goucher also conferred a Bachelor of Arts degree upon Miss Kate C. Sziklali, Laurel Road.

Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, Dean of the Princeton University Graduate College, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Western Reserve University. He was cited for developing the Department of Chemistry at Princeton (which he headed for 25 years beginning in 1926) into one of the nation's best. Attention was also called during the ceremony to Dr. Taylor's "great powers of intellect, energy and dedication to a career in science," and to the fact that numerous important developments today, including the manufacture of plastics and the production of high octane gasoline, are the direct result of his basic research.

Cornell University granted five degrees to Princeton area residents. They were Martha Boggs Gazley, Ewing Street; David K. Homrighausen, Mercer Street; Keith P. Rowan, Rosedale Road; —Continued on Page 15

SIX WEEKS, 7,000 MILES: That's the schedule planned for Westward Ho!, the cross-continental bus tour launched last weekend by 24 Princeton Country Day School boys and their leaders. The tour will cover nearly half the states in the nation, visit four national parks and Canada before returning to Princeton on July 25. Standing left to right are David Seder, Ward Kuser, Bob Ayres, Roger Budny, Joe Coffee, Bob Griggs, Ross Fullam, Chips Moore, Mac Morris, Jonathan Howland, Charlie Stuart, Mike Morris, Burt Jackson, Doug Ewing, Sam Guttman and Huck Fairman. Kneeling are Wesley McCaughan, Dave De La Cour and Dick Griggs, the leaders. In the bus are Tim Harris who'll be behind the wheel for the entire trip; Bob Mueller, Eric Stoes, Bob Kuser, Dave Smoyer, Chris Shannon and John Davison. For more about what the wandering boys will see before they return home, read below. (Richards Photo.)

King, III, Wilson Road, graduated and received the prize for Excellence in Chemical Engineering.

At Harvard University, five Princeton area residents were awarded degrees. They are Michael Artin, Evelyn Place, DeWitt C. Jones, III, Stanworth Lane; Reynold T. Iwanoto, University Place; David C. D. Rogers, Mercer Street, and Jan M. Wright, Newlin Road.

Bernhard E. Bergesen, III, State Road, and Warren W. Foster, Prospect Avenue, received degrees at Dartmouth College's commencement exercises.

Receiving degrees at the University of Pennsylvania were Miss Bette Friedman, Vandeventer Avenue, who was awarded a bachelor of fine arts degree; Miss Shirley S. Bitterman, Newlin Road, who was awarded a bachelor of laws degree, and Jack I. Bardoun, Clearview Street, who won his doctor of philosophy.

Mary Beverly Dodson of 218 Prospect Avenue, received her bachelor of arts degree at the commencement exercises of William and Mary College. A Sociology major, Miss Dodson held the George Washington Scholarship for four years.

Johns Hopkins University conferred degrees upon four residents. They are James K. King, Palmer Square; Helen B. Sloat, R.D. 3; James M. York, Battle Road, who became a doctor of medicine, and Michael G. Hall, who became a doctor of philosophy.

Gualdo Ford, Battle Road, received his degree from Denison University, Ohio.

At Blair Academy Robert B.

Dismore, Lawrenceville Road, was awarded a diploma.

Nancy Anne Hagen, Hillcrest Lake Drive, and Eleanor Ann Smith, Cedar Lane, were graduated from Penn Hall Preparatory School.

Westward Ho. Twenty-four boys from Princeton Country Day School are currently camping out in Rocky Mountain National Park. With four adult leaders, they are touring the U.S. on a specially-chartered bus from the Tiger Bus Line.

The expedition, known as Westward Ho, departed from Princeton Friday. They have already been to such places as the home and tomb of Abraham Lincoln, Springfield, Ill.; the home of Mark Twain, Hannibal, Mo.; Smith Center, the geographical center of the United States, and the U.S. Mint and Denver Museum of Natural History in Denver.

Expeditions planned for the rest of June will take them to Leadville mines, Colorado; Mesa Verde National Park; Painted Desert; Petrified Forest; Grand Canyon; Lake Meade; Hoover Dam; and Last Frontier Village, Las Vegas.

On July 1, the group will arrive in California and will spend a full day at Disneyland. From there, the boys will proceed to Sequia National Park, Yosemite National Park, Lake Tahoe and Salt Lake City before arriving at the ranch of Princeton residents Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Goodridge in Jackson, Wyoming, on July 12.

The group will spend four days at the Goodridge ranch and will take side trips to Yellowstone National Park and Grand Teton National Park.

After leaving the Goodridges, the tour will head east, making tur, shot in New England autumn colors, describes the efforts of a group of people to rid-themselves of a corpse which they may or may not have murdered. Shirley MacLaine is excellent as a young widow, while Edmund Gwenn and John Forsythe both do admirable jobs in an off-beat but strictly enjoyable motion picture.

Goodbye My Lady (June 28-30)

is in the main a picture for the Alfred Payson Terhune story, tracing the story of a boy (Brandon de Wilde) and the dog which he finds and later has to return to his owner. There is some excellent footage shot in Louisiana, and the picture, while slow-moving, will be enjoyable for all but especially for the younger audience. Walter Brennan, as the boy's uncle, and Phil Harris, as a friendly store-keeper, both do excellent jobs.

Film Set for Production. A new Princeton motion picture company, General Films, Inc., has announced the plans for its first production, a 45-minute version of "Evermann," a 16th Century morality play.

Richard L. Hilliard is president of the company, and will direct the picture when production starts on July 2. Other officers of the organization are John F.

Brinster, treasurer, and Thomas P. Cook, secretary.

Heading the cast of the picture, which describes man's preparation for life after death, is Karl Light. A graduate of Princeton, Mr. Light is appearing as Bertram Cates, the teacher in Broadway's "Inherit the Wind," and has also had experience in "The Sea Gull" and "Barefoot in Athens."

Two Princeton residents, Richard K. Nicholls and Munroe Wade, will also be members of the cast. Mr. Nicholls played the role of the cardinal in "The Lark" which was on Broadway until recently, while Mr. Wade has been in "Age and Grace" at the Blackfriars Theatre. (For another current report on each of these Princetonians, see page 5.)

Allen Ward, editor of the New Hope Gazette, will record a speech for the film, one of a number of educational and semi-documentary production planned by General Films. He has experience as a broadcaster, announcer and producer with WQXR and WPIX in New York.

Other performers include Henry Siegel, Mrs. Blackwell Smith, Frank Scherz, James Hopkins, Edmund Keeley and Peter Nicholls, all of whom have worked with the Community Players. Mr. Nicholls is president of Princeton University's Theatre Intime.

Another veteran of Community Players' productions, Peter Vanzandi, will handle the lighting for the film. David DeTurk, a graduate student at Princeton University, has done the screen adaptation for the film and will also serve as technical director.

David M. Epstein, a young composer who is studying for his Ph.D. at Princeton, has written the score for the film. Leo J. Brannick will be in charge of the sound recording while Clare Redjoyce will do the editing.

stops at such places as the Mount Rushmore Memorial, the Badlands, Gull State Park in Iowa, Indiana Dunes State Park, the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich., Niagara Falls and the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N. Y. The tour will arrive back in Princeton on July 25.

During the entire trip, the boys will be able to engage regularly in such activities as swimming, fishing, camping, boating and other athletics. A dozen PCD boys and two faculty members took a similar trip three years ago, but used two private cars and a trailer instead of a bus.

Valley Road Graduates. The Valley Road School held commencement exercises last Thursday night and awarded 81 eighth graders graduation certificates.

Mrs. Kate Nicoll, president of the board of education, conferred the certificates, while the Rev. Richard H. Luecke pronounced the invocation. The commencement speaker, Rabbi Joshua O. Haberman, spoke on "Hitting the Target."

One of the features of the program was the rendering of "Who Made Our Flag" by the choral ensemble. The group is composed of William Conger, Deane Jensen, Martha Mitchell, Claire Alden, Eleanor Hamilton, Allen Gebhardt, Wanda Mills, Robert Rugg, Diane Frampton and Valerie O'Dea.

The list of graduates follows: Claire Alden, Margaret Anderson, Lewis Applegate, Nicholas Baglivi, Christabel Bettes, Caroline Bliss, David Blydenburgh, Edwin Boggs, Joseph Boyd, Carl Brauer, Rosalie Brown, Joan Butterfoss, Norman Cantor, John Cifelli, William Conger, Thomas Cook and Dale Crenshaw.

Rotary Club Gift. The Princeton Rotary Club has pledged a $2750 gift to Princeton Hospital for the purchase of equipment to establish an Ear, Throat and Nose Clinic. Announcement of the gift was made by Arthur R. Wengel, president of the club, and B. Franklin Bunn, chairman of the club's committee on charities.

The hospital has accepted the gift and is taking steps toward buying the necessary equipment. According to present plans, the clinic will go into operation next winter and will be under the supervision of Dr. L. Ashby Adams, otolaryngologist on the hospital staff.

Two Princetonians Honored. Two Princeton residents are among the 154 young scholars who have been awarded Ford Foundation Scholarships for study in the fields of Asia, the Near East, Africa, the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

Robert H. McNeal of 221-B Marshall Street, an instructor in the History Department, will study and do research in this country. Peter F. Sugar of 223-C Marshall Street, an M. A. graduate of Princeton, will study for fifteen weeks in Austria, Yugoslavia and Turkey.

Unusual Wedding. Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber, who doesn't get the chance very often, officiated this past week at a gay, out-of-the-ordinary wedding in the library of his home. Two scientists from China were the civil ceremony participants.

United in marriage by the magistrate were Dr. Kerson Huang, 24 Bank Street, a visiting physicist at the Institute of Advanced Study, and Miss Julia Man-Yu-Skeng of New York City, who just earned her Master's degree in chemistry at Columbia and has started on her doctorate. Ten friends of the couple were in attendance as Magistrate Gerber read the marriage vows.

Tamarack to Open. Tamarack, the Girl Scout Day Camp, will hold its ninth season this summer. The camp will be open from July 9-13 and 16-20 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The camp will be directed by Mrs. Bruan Boyd, while the general chairman is Mrs. Justus Vollbrecht. Registration of girls from 7 to 13 years can be made at the Girl Scout office, 202 Nassau Street, on Fridays from 9 a.m. until noon and from 2 to 3 p.m. Transportation to the camp will be by bus, with vehicles making three stops within the Princeton area. Activities at the camp, which will be held in the Miss Fine's gymnasium on rainy days, include arts and crafts, nature study, dramatics and camping skills.

Foreign Students to Visit. Seventy foreign teenage students who are visiting this country with the American Field Service and have spent a year studying in American schools will visit Princeton from July 14 to 17. Their visit here will be the last stop in a tour of the country.

The Princeton Committee for the American Field Service has requested that all Princeton residents who would like to have one or more of these visitors at their homes for the three nights contact them. In charge of the program are Mrs. Datus Smith (1-4979) and Mrs. Harold Sprout (1-0965).

Sports in Princeton

Midget Bucs Win. Assuming the role of world-beaters, in a manner much like their big-league namesakes, the Pirates last week upset the defending champion Yankees in the Princeton Midget League's World Series. The new champs did the job effectively in two straight games by 4-0 and 12-2 scores.

Sponsored by the Plainsboro Lions Club, the victors received beautiful pitching from Walt Brunson and Jim Sassman on consecutive afternoons to cop the Brokaw Field best-of-three set. The American Division leaders, sponsored by Hult's shoe store, never managed to regain the collective batting eye that carried them to their divisional title in decisive fashion.

Young Henry Schmidt was the batting star for the Bucs in their opening triumph as he croaked a pair of triples at key opportunities. In the second and concluding contest, everybody hit for the Pirates in one bat-around inning. Sassman also was afforded splendid defensive support, particularly in the frame that saw two pick-off flips and a perfect peg from the outfield eliminate the Yankees' most serious threat, a bases-loaded situation.

The Princeton YMCA, sponsor of the Midget League, conducted its annual father-son outing Saturday to culminate the World Series program and present trophies—to each Pirate for taking the series and to each Yank for the pennant championship. Unfortunately, the trophies did not arrive in time, so the fathers and sons merely had a good time and were advised that the coveted awards will follow soon.

Bi-County League Now Tri. Boasting a roster of capable holdovers and strong newcomers, the Princeton Athletic Club will send its 1956 baseball team against a South Brunswick Township entry at 6:15 p.m. Friday in a Tri-County League contest on Brokaw Field. The game will be the PAC's home opener, following an "away" meeting with Montgomery Township on Tuesday.

Princeton's defending championship club, which won titles in 1954 and 1955, will play an attractive slate of home engagements almost every Friday evening through July and August. Its competition will be the Montgomery team, a charter member of the loop, plus two new members, the South Brunswick nine—which caused a switch in the league's name from Bi-County to Tri-County—and Princeton Junction.

Charlie Perpetua is the PAC's new field manager, succeeding Chick Davis, who is now in the army. Perpetua, a Princeton High School alumnus and athlete, will be assisted by Pete Johnson, also a former PHS sports standout. Davis managed the local club to its two successive League crowns.

Besides Davis, the 1956 Princeton team will be minus several other stars of the 1954-55 champs; namely, the twin batboys of Bruce and Bob Dennen, infielder Walter Wells and centerfielder Bill Chauncey.

Three-Deep on Mound. Hold-over players on the PAC squad include Perpetua, Johnson, Lee Ammerman, Bill Rodefeld and Robin Foster, while veteran Del White will be on hand in early July, as soon as his current naval reserve cruise is completed. New men on the roster include Warren Hoff, Russ Watson, Bob Montgomery, Nick Kovalikides, Bill Rooney, Bobby Cox, Bobby Richey and Alan Ammerman.

Princeton's starting team may not be decided for several games, but the club is well-endowed with pitchers, what with Perpetua, Watson and Kovalikides ready to throw. Hoff and Foster probably will alternate as catchers, as do outfielders, with Lee Ammerman a likely first base choice. Johnson the leading candidate for second, Montgomery the No. 1 shortstop pick, Rodefeld set for third-base duty and Rooney, Cox, Richey and Alan Ammerman in the market for outfield berths.

Two More Titles Won. Six individual and team titles, two of them achieved at the national level, fell to Princeton athletes during the sports year that came to an end Saturday. Over that period of time, Orange and Black teams compiled a winning average of .650 to achieve one of their better records of a quite bright post-war decade.

Although it lost to Harvard in the Ivy League, John Conroy's tennis team won eastern laurels last week at Hamilton, N. Y., and his number one player took the individual title. Sophomore Jim Farrin was crowned Eastern Intercollegiate Singles champion when he trounced top-seeded Les Dodson of Kalamazoo in straight sets.

Farrin won, 8-6, 8-6, 6-3, frequently drawing his opponent to the net and then passing him with rifle-like shots down the alley. On a team basis, the Tigers totalled 28 points, seven more than runner-up Colgate, to bring home the Tod Backe Trophy for the first time in a dozen years.

Princeton's national champion 150-lb. crew is on the way to Henley, England, where it will begin competition on July 4 for the Thames Challenge Cup. The other national title to come here was won in March when Kinnmont—Continued on Page 20

Holtsma was the N.C.A.A. epic champion.

Two Ivy League titles—both quite unexpected—fell to Tiger teams during the year. A 6-1 record (earned only by the 7-6 loss to Harvard) was good enough to catapult the generally flippant Tigers into top spot in the football standings. Royce was, of course, on hand to spark the great 134 upset at Yale.

Jimmy Reed's wrestlers also surprised with a first-place finish in their circuit. Had the 16-man battle at New Haven gone the other way, the baseball team would have added a seventh championship to Princeton's fine collection.

Won-Lost Record Higher. The won-lost record of 140 was 13 percentage points above the mark compiled for 1954-55, and ranks well above the post-war low of 57-3 to which Princeton teams fell two years ago. The all-time high for the modern era (the period since World War I) is .706, compiled during 1949-50.

The 150-lb. crew, which defeated an even dozen opponents in succeeding to its national championship, was the only varsity team to compile a mark of 1.000 for the season. Princeton teams were unbeaten in 150-lb. crew, basketball and fencing.

Totals for the year show that varsity entries won 155 contests, lost 93 and tied seven for .621, just one thousandth of a percentage point lower than last year. Junior varsity teams were pegged at .643, while the Class of 1959 as freshmen won 104, lost 51 and was involved in three ties for a mark of .668.

Trouble at Syracuse. Despite hopeful predictions of a high finish in the national regatta at Syracuse, based on victories in the Navy, Childs and Compton Cup races earlier this year, Princeton was a major disappointment last weekend. Believed to have the power and balance to finish among the top three crews, the Tigers could do no better than seventh—five lengths off the pace set by victorious Cornell.

Navy, none too impressive during the spring season, was a good second, while Wisconsin finished third. Washington, Stanford and Penn likewise led the Orange and Black across the line in the three-mile race, with the Tigers finishing ahead of Syracuse, M.I.T., California, Boston University and Columbia.

Princeton's jayvees were sixth in the race that Syracuse won, while the freshmen gave the best showing of the day when they placed third. Syracuse took the two-mile race for first-year crews, with Navy second.

The Olympic trials also to be staged on Lake Okauchong, will be held from June 28 to 30. Expectations are that the disappointing showing by Princeton as an eight will result in its being split into fours, one rowing without coxswain.

Thompson joins P.L.T.A. Four U.S. Tennis players were admitted to membership this year by the Professional Lawn Tennis Association. Three of them were Tony Trabert, Maureen Connolly and Doris Hart, while the fourth is a resident of Princeton. He is Bryce Thompson, 24-year-old Princeton High School alumnus who lives at 195 Nassau Street.

Thompson played tennis for Florida Southern and the University of Chattanooga before entering the Army two years ago. After finishing his basic training, he was assigned to assist in supervision of the Army sports program in Wetzlar, Germany and later became tennis coach for the U.S. Army in Europe.

Thompson won the doubles championship for the Western European area this spring, pairing with Barry Seymour, Yale '54. Eighteen teams were competing.

Bryce will serve as the tennis professional this summer at the Brooklawn Country Club in Bridgeport, Conn. Prior to his service in the Army, he held similar positions at clubs in Cooperstown and Bay Shore, N. Y.

Play Red Feather Tourney. A total of 47 Princeton newcomers were in the midst of heated tennis competition this week as the Playgrounds Committee sponsored its first Red Feather tournament of the summer. Finals in the tourney's three divisions were expected late Friday, depending on weather conditions.

In conjunction with the first session of 1956, Pat Tidy of Princeton was appointed an assistant to help run the Red Feather tennis program. According to C. Edward Christian, the summer recreation director, Tidy replaces Dick Lashan, who accepted an out-of-town job at the last minute.

A senior at Lafayette College

next fall, Tidy is a graduate of Ilan School, where he performed in both basketball and baseball. At Lafayette, he is a varsity soccer and baseball competitor, and he has competed in many tennis tournaments.

Participating in the opening tourney's division for 15-year-olds and under, which started Tuesday, were the following youngsters: Nick Charney, William Dix, John Freeman, Tom Dewes, Wesley Marshall, Windlow Martin, Arthur Freich, Pete Epstein, Doug Rohner, Matthew Thompson, Archie Freeman, Alan Tucker, Steve Rockwood and Carl Packard.

In the girls' division for 18-year-olds and under, these players were seeking the summer's initial title: Esther Musselman, Lynn Palmer, Virginia Huston, Ellie Thompson, Heidi Vermilio, Phyllis Marshall, Linda Brown, Nancy Craven, Doris Plum, Margery Bauch, Barbara Dilley, Susan Cushman, Jane Bachelder, Rhoda Shorten, Sandy Weymer, Joyce Sinkle and Martha Raubinger. Boys taking part in the division for 18-year-olds and under included John Chandler, Vic Payne, Bob Sorenson, Pete Epstein, John Stalker, Larry Oneley, Steve Lockwood, Nick Charney, John Fine, Pat Huston, Bill Fritinger, John Harrison, Sam Weymer, Ken Boyd, John Arscott and Clem Pease.

INSULATION... the protective covering on extension cords and electrical wiring is your protection against fires and shock. Cords, lamp sockets and appliances should be carefully and regularly inspected and repaired if defective.

FUSES... are electrical safety valves. Blowing a fuse is a warning of overloading or defective wiring. The fault cannot be corrected by inserting a larger size fuse. Always replace a blown fuse with one of proper rating.

SOCKETS... when used in bathrooms and damp places, should be of porcelain or molded composition. Insulating material should be used in metal pull chains. Avoid touching metal sockets and appliances while standing on a wet floor, while taking a bath, or touching radiators or other plumbing.

ADDITIONAL WIRING... on your premises should be installed only by a responsible electrician. More and more homeowners are insisting on FULL HOUSEPOWER... proper wiring to safely and conveniently handle all of today's modern electric appliances.

"Humbly Grateful."

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

May I express my sincere thanks for your kind nomination as Man of the Week. Though I feel most undeserving (I am sure there are many who have given much more of themselves toward the betterment of our community). I am nonetheless humbly grateful.

I firmly maintain that whatever success I have achieved and whatever good I have accomplished is due entirely to the encouragement, the cooperation and the support of my many wonderful friends. To them, and to you, I extend my heartfelt thanks.

Looking forward to the day when I can be of further service to "our town", I remain, Cars Bigger, But Not Streets.

To The Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

In recent months, I have heard and read more than I can or care to digest about Princeton's terrific need for additional off-street parking facilities. I'm also pretty sick of hearing and reading that the city fathers have been unsuccessful in their efforts to cultivate appropriate space for the needed off-street lots.

As a resident of the Borough, it seems to me that our leaders—busy with the admittedly serious downtown problem—have really overlooked another bad parking situation in the residential areas. I mean the accident-inviting fact that autos are permitted to park along both sides of such 30-foot streets as Sergeant and Murray Place. Twice, during the past week I have seen two near-misdevelop due to cars traveling rapidly in opposite directions on the narrow traffic lanes of these streets.

Cars of today are too wide for safe operation on undersized streets, so I suggest parking be limited to one side only. If not, there won't be much further need for downtown off-street parking space because most of Princeton's cars will be off the streets—in repair shops!

Softball Standings

A pair of newcomers to the higher echelon of Princeton softball, ASCOP and Drake's Plumbing & Heating of Belle Mead, wound up in a first-place deadlock this week as the community League concluded the opening half of its summer schedule. The Nassau Social Club, a perennial powerhouse, claimed runner-up honors.

As the loop's second portion got underway on Tuesday evening, Drake's re-affirmed its leadership ability by blanking Frazee's club, 4-0, with single runs in the first, third, fourth and seventh innings. NSC indicated it would remain in contention during the coming weeks, too, by edging the Italian-American Sportsman's Club, 4-3, with two-run bursts in the fourth and sixth frames.

Final league standings for season's first half:

	Won	Lost
Drake's	5	1
ASCOP	5	1
NSC	4	2
Sportsman's Club	2	4
Frazee's	2	4
Lalclaw's	1	5

The students will arrive on Saturday afternoon and spend Sunday with their hosts. Sight-seeing, picnics, luncheons and dinners are planned for the visitors on Monday and Tuesday.

Bookmobile Schedule Listed. The Mercer County Bookmobile will inaugurate its summer schedule in Princeton Township on Friday, June 29, and return on alternate Fridays after that. An additional stop has been added at Woodland Drive, Mrs. Mary O. Besore, county librarian, said.

The complete schedule: 27 Leigh Avenue (Mrs. Parker) 9:25-9:40; Morgan Place (Mrs. Stasikewich), 9:45-10:05; Woodland Drive (Mrs. Kleinberg), 10:10-10:30; Cuyler & Dempsey 10:35-11:05; 327 Walnut Lane (Mrs. Peskin), 11:10-11:30; Harrison Street Project, 220 King Street, 11:35-11:55; 152 Cedar Lane (Mrs. Johnson), 12:30-1:00; 57 Grover Ave. (Mrs. Witter), 1:05-1:25; Deer Path & Clover Lane (Mrs. Morgan), 1:30-2:00; Littlebrook Avenue (Mrs. Schrader), 2:05-2:25; Random Road (Mrs. Kurshan), 2:30-2:50; 49 Gulick Road (Mrs. Merrill), 2:55-3:30.

Water Situation Disturbing. New Jersey's "hand-to-mouth" dealing with a permanent water supply may result in a serious problem for the state, Charles A. Eaton Jr., president of the New Jersey Bankers' Association, warned Tuesday. He spoke at a meeting of the Association's key committeemen held here.

The state has "plenty of water," but we lack the bathtubs to catch it in," he said as he urged the expansion of municipal and private reservoir systems. "We should join with others in pressing for all possible development of available sources such as the Delaware River before it is too late," he declared.

Health Clinic to Meet. The New Jersey Association of Mental Hygiene Clinics will hold its annual meeting here on Friday. After a closed membership meeting and luncheon at the Princeton Inn, an open meeting is planned in 10 McCosh Hall, Princeton University, at 2:00 p.m.

Dr. V. Terrell Davis, Director of Mental Health of the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies, will speak on "Plans for New Jersey State Mental Hygiene Clinic Program." Mrs. Margaret Terrell, vice-president of the association, will preside.

Mission on Display. A model

Spanish mission, erected by Valley Road School fifth grader Alice Rajchman, is on display at the Princeton Public Library. Based on the Santa Barbara missions, it was done as a social studies project when the class was studying the Southwest.

It may be viewed at the Library from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesday, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 10 to 1 on Thursday and Saturdays. A special collection of books on the South west and its Missions has been assembled for those who wish to read further on the subject.

Miscellany. Sons have been born at the Princeton Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Kleinhans 3rd, 220-C Harrison Street; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Keene, Carter Road; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Greubel, Monmouth Junction; Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, 81 Leigh Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Rolland T. McMillen, Pennlyle Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Creacy, 69 Leigh Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Stone, 100 Stockton Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Webster, 98 Jefferson Road.

Parents of daughters are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stout, 34 Tee Ar Place; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, Main Street, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Mazzella, 32 Witherspoon Lane; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ashton, 48 Nassau Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Bristol, 6 Olden Lane.

Obituaries

Andrew L. Fesko, 62, a guard at Palmer Physics Laboratory for Princeton University, died June 16 in Princeton Hospital. Several weeks ago, he had been injured by a fall while on duty.

A resident of White Horse, Mr. Fesko was a Navy veteran of World War I and a member of Trenton Post No. 93, American Legion. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna S. Fesko; a daughter, two sisters and a brother. The service at a Trenton funeral home was followed by requiem high mass at St. Francis Church, Trenton, and burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mrs. Daisy Johnson Jarvie of the Princeton Pike died June 15 in McKinley Hospital, Trenton.

Widow of Albert L. Jarvie, she is survived by six sons, among them Walter of Lawrenceville; two daughters, two sisters, 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. The service was held at a Trenton funeral home, with the Rev. M. Allen Kimble of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery, Trenton.

Miss Sara T. Risdon, 76, a lifelong resident of Lawrenceville, died June 15 in a Trenton hospital.

Daughter of the late James A. and Sara M. Risdon, she was active in the affairs of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. The service was held at a Pennington funeral home, with the Rev. M. Allen Kimble, pastor of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was in Lawrenceville Cemetery.

Robert I. Smyth, 81, of 14 Murray Place, died June 16 in Princeton Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Minnie Hart Smyth.

A retired vice-president of the Lawyers Trust Company of New York, Mr. Smyth was a member of the American Ordnance Association. He was also a veteran of the Seventh Regiment, New York National Guard.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, the Rev. Robert N. Smyth, a faculty member at Princeton Country Day School and pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, Rocky Hill; a daughter, two sisters and three grandchildren.

The service was held at Trinity Church, Rocky Hill, with the Rev. Robert Hybel officiating. Burial was in Valhalla, N. Y.

News of the Churches

Big Land Gift to Trinity. Seventy-six acres of land in the eastern part of Princeton Township have been given to Trinity Parish by Mrs. Moses Taylor Pyne, long a member of Trinity. The land will be used for a church school-chapel structure that will be an integral part of Trinity Parish, despite its geographical separation from the church on Mercer Street. The church officials estimate that the proposed new building does not in any sense mean a new parish.

The land fronts on Van Dyke Road, just off Snowden Lane near intersection of Princeton Road, runs almost to Mount Lucas Road. Much of the area is rugged terrain, with rocky outcrops and ravines. Trinity plans to launch a land-use survey within the next week to determine the most advantageous use of the land, and the best kind of building to erect on it.

The first unit to be built on the property will probably be a basement and first story that will house lower and upper grades of the church school, meeting in simultaneous session. Plans for the building will also include a Chapel so that parents may attend a service while their children are in Sunday school. Members of the clergy staff will serve both the Chapel and the church on Mercer Street.

At present, Trinity church has 540 children attending two crowded church school sessions each Sunday, and 1600 communicants who come to Sunday morning services. The new expansion parish will mean better Sunday School facilities and will ease the crowded, traffic-narred situation on Mercer Street each Sunday morning.

In announcing the gift of land, Richard K. Paynter, Jr., and Samuel Frothingham, wardens, emphasize that the building will serve community as well as parish. Meeting places for Girl and Boy Scouts and similar secular groups are at a premium in Princeton, and Trinity expects that the building will become a community center for weekday activities.

Trinity also feels that its new building will provide opportunities for missionary effort in a growing part of Princeton. The parish will endeavor to find out what the people in eastern Princeton would like in the way of church activities.

Hugh D. Wise, Jr., is chairman of Trinity's committee on development and planning. Other members are R. Manning Brown, Boris E. Gorman, Jr., Robert C. Shaw, John H. Gelsman, Jr., and Mr. Paynter and Mr. Frothingham.

Synagogue Youth Council. Two members of Princeton's Jewish Center, Rabbi Joseph H. Gelsman and Mrs. S. F. Goodheart, have been instrumental in the formation of a regional Synagogue Youth Council for teen-agers. The Council, whose first meeting will be held this Sunday at Temple Shalom, Levittown, will unite young people from Princeton, Hightstown, Flemington, Bensenville, Levittown, Trenton, Roosevelt and Lakewood, representing congregations in Reform, Conservative, and Orthodox branches of the Jewish faith. The purpose of the group is to foster fellowship and to develop a young people's program based on religious and cultural values.

The organization grew out of a meeting of lay and rabbinic representatives held at Har Sinai Temple last month. Rabbi Joshua O. Haberman of Har Sinai was chosen Rubenic Advisor and Mrs. Paul Scherz of Trenton was elected chairman of the adult board which will cooperate with the Youth Council. Among the teen-age officers are Alan Goodheart of Princeton, vice-president. At the all-day meeting this Sunday, scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m. at Temple Shalom, there will be three discussion workshops on the following topics: "The problem of inter-dating and inter-marriage," "The impact of the Israeli-Arab conflict on American Jews," "How can we promote religious cooperation among Jews?"

The main feature of the program will be a discussion in which a youth panel fires

Pyne Precedent

Mrs. Moses Taylor Pyne's gift of 76 acres to Trinity parish follows in the tradition of the Pyne family, long-time benefactors to the Princeton community.

Moses Taylor Pyne, senior, father-in-law of Mrs. Pyne, was a member of the class of '77, Princeton, and served on the committee that planned the first expansion of Trinity Street church, 1902. As a property owner, he held the Pyne estate which extended, until its subdivision, from Mercer to Stockton and from Lover's Lane to Quaker Road.

A long-term trustee of the University (1885 to 1921), he gave to Princeton Upper Pyne Hall, at 74 to 78 Nassau Street and Lower Pyne Hall, the building in which Western Union has its offices. Pyne Hall on the University campus, was given in his memory.

questions at a panel of rabbis — "Youth Wants to Know." Luncheon will be served and there will be an outdoor event with dancing, and community singing.

Synagogue Youth Council plans to give several programs in different communities throughout the year.

Come and Get It. Church picnics, an old and hallowed institution in American congregational life, will spread themselves over the countryside during the last weeks in June.

The membership of the Princeton Jewish Center will go to Poorner's Farm this Sunday from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m. for a year-end social gathering. There will be food and swimming. The rain date is July 1.

Families who attend Rosedale Chapel will have a covered dish supper this Friday at 6:30 p. m. at the Chapel on Carter Road. Each family will bring a covered dish plus a nominal admission charge. Funds will be deposited in the Chapel Building Fund. Mrs. H. C. Tindall, 1-4536, will take ticket reservations.

Another family picnic will take place next Saturday when members of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian church gather with their families at Sullivan's Grove, Washington Crossing. The Board of Deacons is sponsoring the picnic which will last from 2 p. m. to 8 p. m.

REAL ESTATE OFFERINGS

SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED

So clean, tidy, and completely finished that one need only turn the key to move into this most pleasing of split levels. Considerable time and thought was given to make this one just a little different, and the construction just a little better. The living room has warmth and intimacy to go with the fire place; the separate dining room is bright, and adjoins a glass enclosed sun porch. The three bedrooms are light, airy, and have bountiful closet space; while 1 1/2 baths in the sleeping area make for additional convenience. A large paneled game room and finished cellar afford additional space for both children and adults. $32,500

Other Fine Values

PRINCETON

This most pleasant of contemporary homes seems to provide everything with its secluded, wooded, and brook bordered lot; its spacious flowing rooms; and its ease of upkeep. Proper planning has made the living room large yet intimate; the kitchen a work-saver; and the three bedrooms and two baths most commodious. Fine construction makes this home realistically priced at

PRINCETON

The family with additional interests will appreciate the extra room and privacy in this seven room Colonial on a lightly trafficked road. An L shaped living room is ideal for piano placing; full bath on 1st floor lends itself to a possible first floor bedroom. The second floor has three generous, cross ventilated bedrooms, and one bath. Other extras and appointments make this home worthwhile at 30,000

HOME NEEDED

This client is most anxious to obtain a contemporary house with character; it must have at least four bedrooms and two baths; should be well located on at least an acre in the Northern or Western area. Price to $50,000
